

Atomic Energy Power Seen in 15 to 20 Years

U. S. REACTOR ON VIEW AT GENEVA. As the atoms-for-peace conference opened in Geneva, Soviet delegates to the United Nations Economic and Social Council inspect a U. S. atomic reactor. According to dispatches from the world's greatest scientific conference on how to put atoms to work for mankind, friendly visits and exchanges of information, such as that pictured here, set the stage for the meeting.

Expert Says It May Give Coal a Race

Electricity Production
Forecast Is Made by
U. S. Geneva Delegate

GENEVA (U) — An American scientist told the atoms-for-peace conference today "there is a good possibility" atomic power will be competing with electricity from coal in the United States within the next 15 or 20 years.

The prediction was made to the 72-nation scientific congress by Dr. James A. Lane of the Atomic Energy Commission's Oak Ridge, Tenn., national laboratory.

Outlook Promising

"Taking all available economic and technical information at its face value," Lane declared, "it is evident that the outlook for large-scale nuclear power in the United States is very promising."

Reporting at the same conference session, two Russian scientists indicated such an atomic plant as the 5,000-kilowatt station the Soviet Union now is operating can best be utilized in areas remote from coal supplies or where only low grade coal is available.

Giving the first detailed account of the Russian nuclear plant, D. I. Blokhinets and N. A. Nikolayev conceded that the electricity it is turning out costs "considerably" more than the output of large coal-burning Soviet stations. But they added:

"An atomic power station now is already more profitable than a coal station in regions situated far from coal mines or than coal stations operating on low quality fuel."

Lane told the conference a review of published estimates of the capital cost of nuclear-electric plants, combined with projected operating costs, had led him to conclude "there is a good possibility that nuclear power costs in the range of four to seven mills per kilowatt hour will be realized within the next 15 or 20 years."

Will Be Able To Complete

"At these power costs," he said, "nuclear plants will compete for an appreciable fraction of all new plants built by 1975, the total construction costs of which may amount to between 4 billion and 30 billion dollars."

"The present U. S. reactor development program now being carried out in the laboratories of the Atomic Energy Commission and by various industrial concerns throughout the country is aimed at such an objective."

He said the AEC is now building or contemplating five different types of prototype or pilot-plant reactors.

Municipal Pool Issue Won't Be On Fall Ballot

There will be no special issue on the November ballots pertaining to financing of a proposed swimming pool for Marion.

Tom Clark, chairman of a finance sub-committee of a swimming pool committee composed of members of the city recreation commission and park board, said this morning the group did not feel it was in a position at the present time to submit for Council's approval a tax levy or bond issue for the November election.

It might possibly go on the May primary ballot, Clark said, adding that the group is still studying other means of financing a city swimming pool.

A site on city-owned property adjacent to Lincoln Park has been selected by the site and size sub-committee for the proposed swimming pool. The size selected is 75 by 165 feet, while the type of construction has yet to be decided.

A MAJORITY, 694, thought a swimming pool or pools were needed most in the way of public recreation for Marion. Park activities, including 133 suggestions for "better developed parks," totaled 338.

Of the 169 miscellaneous comments made in answer to this question, sports were mentioned by 20 persons. Whenever sports were mentioned, tennis courts and baseball diamonds were listed more often.

An additional 156 persons did not know what was needed most in Marion for recreation.

In answer to "what would be the best way to finance" what

Hearing Slated On Budgets for Public Schools

Nine Teachers Hired
For Coming Year at Regular Board Session

A public hearing on the school budget for the coming year will be held at 5 p.m. Aug. 29 at the Marion City School Office. That date was set by the Board of Education at its regular meeting Monday night at the school office.

The budget has not been completed, but will be finished by the time of the public hearing. If it is adopted after the hearing, it will be sent to the county auditor's office for approval.

The board hired nine new teachers, including an assistant football and tennis coach. The new assistant coach is Robert Messaros of Elyria, a graduate of Miami University. Besides coaching, he will also teach history.

The other new teachers are Jack D. Hudson of Mingo Junction, Miss Rae Fetter of Marion, Edward Miller of Franklin, Paul H. and Mrs. Ann C. Kiefer of Sandusky, Mrs. Mildred Lytle of Marion, Lawrence Grauer of Bucyrus and Thomas J. Sheskey of Columbus.

The board also granted Mrs. Clara Messenger a continuing contract. She was awarded an eight-year professional certificate this spring and has been in the local schools for the last seven years.

Bewling Green State University and Ohio Northern University were granted permission to use rooms at the Eber Baker Junior High School during the year for extension courses.

The board asked Superintendent Robert S. Brown to investigate further a request of some of the students at Harding High School that they be allowed to form a "Youth for Christ" club at the school.

In a letter to Brown, a group of the students said their group would

July Sets New All-Time Mark In Employment

65 Million at Work in Month; Number of
Jobless Drops Sharply

WASHINGTON (U) — Employment boomed in July to an all-time record of nearly 65 million, while the number of jobless dipped below 2½ million, the government reported today.

The fifth successive monthly rise in employment carried the total of jobholders to 64,955,000, or about a million above the previous record set only one month earlier. The total is three million above July a year ago.

Many Students Hired

Extraordinarily brisk hiring of youngsters released from school contributed much of the gain, the Labor and Commerce departments said in a joint report. They added the employment of adults in most industries "held up better than usual for this time of year."

"As a result, unemployment — which is normally stable in July — went down by 200,000 to 2½ million and is now almost a million lower than a year ago," the report said.

The tally of jobless was 2,471,000 as against 2,679,000 in June.

Increases 5 Million

"The rate of employment increase during the past five months has not been matched since the postwar reconversion period of 1946," Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Secretary of Labor Mitchell said in the joint statement.

They reported about five million persons have been added to the employed total since February 1955, as compared with an average spring and summer rise of three million in the 1947-54 period.

Only 3.7 per cent of the total civilian labor force—which numbered 67,465,000—was job hunting, as against 4 per cent a month ago

League Presents Report Of City Recreation Needs

A report on a telephone survey on recreation, conducted by the Marion League of Women Voters in July, was presented to the city recreation commission, park board, Marion City Board of Education and Marion City Council Monday.

Don Quintance, president pro tem of Council at its meeting Monday night, read the report and a short discussion followed.

IN THEIR SURVEY, members of the League made a total of 1,513 telephone calls. Numbers called were selected by using every fifth Marion residential listing in the telephone book, with only addresses and telephone numbers written on the survey sheets.

The survey was made as part of the League's local study item pertaining to the needs and opportunities for recreation in Marion.

In answer to the first question of "what do you think of when you hear the words public recreation," parks and park activities were mentioned by 506 persons

Neutral Group Besieged

More Koreans Join In Anti-Red Riots

SEOUL (U) — Twelve hundred Red-hating Korean railway workers reached Inchon from Seoul today to reinforce some 300 demonstrators besieging the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission bulletins on Wolmi.

About 700 U. S. soldiers are guarding the island, scene of Gen. MacArthur's famed Inchon landing of 1950.

Earlier today, seven U. S. soldiers were injured when the demonstrators broke through a barricade on the causeway leading to the island. That brought to 22 the number of American servicemen injured since the riots began Saturday. None have been seriously injured.

The Koreans are trying to enforce President Rhee's ultimatum that the NNSSC leave Korea by Saturday. Rhee claims the Communist Poles and Czechs on the commission are spies.

Today's demonstration was broken up by tear gas bombs and blank shells, the latter fired to frighten the Koreans.

Some of the enraged demonstrators threw a U. S. guard box at one causeway into the sea. Others tried to storm the island from the sea. They, too, were repulsed.

9 Koreans Hurt
Nine Koreans were reported injured in the Wolmi clash, three seriously. An ROK army spokesman said one had received a bayonet wound, another had been cut on the head with a rifle butt, and the third had been shot in the leg.

There was no confirmation from U. S. sources.

In Pusan, scene of the most violent clash, an estimated 3,000 to 4,000 demonstrators Monday made several attempts to break into the

Clark M. Fouts Resigns As Eber Baker Principal

Clark M. Fouts of 484 Cherry St., principal of Eber Baker Junior High School here, announced his resignation today to assume the position of principal of the Mount Vernon High School.

Fouts has been in the Marion system for the last 12 years. He came here from Zanesville where he had taught in the county and city school systems on the elementary level. For the first three years here, he was an elementary and junior high school teacher, after which he became principal of Silver St. Elementary School.

HE HELD THAT post until five years ago when he was named principal at Vernon Heights Junior High School and Eber Baker.

Robert S. Brown, superintendent of schools here, said this morning that Fouts is an "excellent student in the field of education."

Brown said he "hated to see him leave Marion, but he had definite

High Water, Fierce Wind Are Expected

Storm's Center May
Arrive Off Hatteras
Tomorrow Morning

MIAMI, Fla. (U) — Hurricane warnings were hoisted from Cape Lookout, N. C., to Norfolk, Va., today as Connie, first big tropical storm of the year, moved toward that mainland area.

Northeast storm warnings were raised on the Virginia capes, and between Cape Lookout and Wilmington, N. C.

South Carolina in Clear

South Carolina and Georgia appeared in the clear as Connie moved north-northwestward at a forward speed of 10 to 11 miles an hour, whirling 135-mile winds in a circle around its center.

The great storm was expected to continue on the same course and at that speed for another 24 hours, perhaps veering slightly more to the north.

"This course would bring the center near or a short distance east of Cape Hatteras Wednesday morning," said a Weather Bureau advisory.

"All precautions should be rushed to completion immediately for the protection of life and property against dangerous winds and abnormally high tides in the area of hurricane and storm warning display," said the advisory.

The hurricane and a high pressure system slowing its progress toward the north will cause progressively rougher and abnormally higher seas from Massachusetts southward along the North Carolina coast, especially in the area from the Carolina capes to Cape Cod as Connie moves northward.

At 11 a.m. the storm was centered 340 miles south-southeast of Cape Hatteras and 450 miles east of Jacksonville, Fla.

Wide Storm
Forecasters pointed out that hurricane force winds extend 120 miles to the north and east and gales an additional 180 miles, so that gale force winds were less than 100 miles offshore in the Cape Hatteras area.

Gordon Dunn, chief forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau's storm warning center, said Connie "missed connections" with a low pressure trough which could have taken it's 135-mile winds out to sea.

Course Changes
Failing to tie in with the trough, the great Atlantic storm slowed its forward pace from about 12 miles an hour to about 8 to 10 miles an hour, and its course from northward to north-northwest.

The center at 8 a.m. was about 450 miles east of St. Augustine, Fla.

All these circumstances, said Dunn, made the situation somewhat critical for the Georgia and Carolina coasts.

There is one good remaining hope that the storm will be steered away from the coast. Another low pressure trough is approaching rapidly from the west, and if Connie ties into its southern half it could be carried out to sea before its full force winds rake land.

"Because of this possibility, I am advising coastal residents from Savannah northward to consider themselves under a mild hurricane alert," said Dunn. "If the danger

Union County's Columbus Man, Prosecutor Is Found Innocent

Acquitted of Bribery
But Judge Is Severely
Critical of His Conduct

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (U) — Lloyd George Kerns, Union County prosecutor, was acquitted of a blackmail charge yesterday but drew a severe rebuke from the judge who heard his case.

Kerns had waived a jury trial. Mrs. Helen Phipps of Summersville filed the blackmail charge. She charged he threatened to disclose her criminal record if she and her husband sued Kerns' father in a dispute over lease for a house.

Judge William Radcliff of Pickaway County, sitting by assignment, said testimony introduced a left a reasonable doubt about Kerns' guilt.

Saying Kerns had "pushed people around and thrown your weight around in a manner not to be condoned," Judge Radcliff also told the prosecutor:

"It is apparent you do not realize the importance and sanctity of the oath. You have apparently mingled your private affairs with your public affairs." In addition, the judge told Kerns he had "lost sight of (your) duty to protect the citizens of this county from any kind of roughshod handling," and had "ruthlessly" taken advantage of his position.

Kerns had been charged May 19 by Mrs. Phipps in a justice of

Columbus Man, Wife Slain by Hammer, Knife

Son of Woman Sought
For Questioning; Had Been Seen Near House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U) — Blood-spattered bodies of a husband and wife were found in their bedroom yesterday. Police said they apparently had been hammered and slashed to death "several days ago."

Dead were Goxer Thomas, 45, and his wife, Betty, 39, found sprawled between twin beds. Police said two hammers and two butcher knives, all blood-stained, were near the bodies.

Woman's Son Sought
Officers said they wanted to question 19-year-old Robert Jacob Miller, son of Mrs. Thomas by a previous marriage. He sometimes made his home with his mother and stepfather. Investigators said he was reported seen driving his mother's car from the home Saturday morning.

Another son, Charles Miller, 18, and a sister of the dead woman, Mrs. Clarabelle Fast, found the bodies late yesterday. They said they forced the rear door when no one answered their knocking.

They told police they found the bodies in the bedroom of the five-room frame house, Thomas clothed in overalls and a yellow shirt, his wife in lounging pajamas.

Robbery Feasibility
Their faces and heads had been battered, police said, and both

To Be in Effect Next Year

New Ohio 'Point System' Will Hit at Poor Drivers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U) — Ohio motorists who repeatedly violate traffic laws will be in danger of losing their licenses under a "point system" which is scheduled to go into effect some time next summer.

Here are some provisions of the system—expected to be in effect by next July:

The driver gets a warning letter upon accumulation of six "demerits." After 12 demerits in a two-year period, the driver will be ordered to take a new examination.

Six demerits, or points, will be recorded upon conviction of any one of the following: second degree manslaughter, drunk driving, leaving the scene of an accident or using a motor vehicle in committing a felony.

Four demerits will be given for conviction for speeding or reckless operation and two for other moving violations.

Inactivity in the Bull Pen

Let us sing of the unsung hero, The pitcher too unrenowned, Who is always in the bull pen, But never reaches the mound. It's 3 and 0 on the batter, The bases are bursting full, A 4-run lead has vanished, And the manager signals the bull, Yes, the manager signals the bull pen. To unlimber another bull. There's MacTivity, MacTivity, MacTivity in the bull pen! He possesses every pitch in the book, He's got the fast one, he's got the hook, Slider, Glider, sinker and knuckle, MacTivity's master of many a muck. I know he's the lad to save the game, But when they announce the reliever's name I can only guarantee that it's not MacTivity, the talented Scot. My hopes descend a deep declivity. In the right field corner, there's MacTivity, Subsidizing in the bull pen. He can throw from the port or starboard, He's a regular pitching machine This wizard we all have heard of, But no one has ever seen. How the muscles bulge in his sweatshirt, How his heart with hope is full, When the manager beckons the bull pen To send him another bull! Lord, let me be that bull! There's MacTivity, MacTivity, MacTivity in the bull pen! And he doesn't warm up for only us, MacTivity is ubiquitous, MacTivity really gets around For a pitcher who never reaches the mound, Be it Baltimore, Brooklyn or Milwaukee, There's MacTivity, poised and pawky. Even in Mudville, when straits are dire MacTivity's eager to quench the fire. I know who I'd throw against Musial or Mantle, But managers' minds are so are flivverly-givverly, In the right field corner, there's MacTivity, Subsidizing in the bull pen. Copyright—N. Y. The day has been designated as "Marion Merchants Salute to Junior Fair."

This has been set for Thursday, Aug. 25, and will immediately follow the parade which is set for the fairgrounds at 1 p.m. Time the parade will reach downtown will be announced later. At least 29 floats are planned for the parade which will go from the fairgrounds south on Greenwood St. to Center St., west on Center to Leader St., north on Leader and return to the fairgrounds. ## TV Viewers Think 'Auto Thief' Is Answer to 'What's My Line?'

NEW YORK (AP)—A television panel on the CBS show "What's My Line?" managed Sunday night to guess that the slim dark-haired young man's occupation was that of an elephant handler. Nine hundred miles away in Royal Oak, Mich., two viewers thought they also recognized him as something else and they called the FBI in Detroit. Monday he was arrested on auto theft charges.

James J. Kelly, special agent in charge of the FBI office here, identified the prisoner as James Marshall Showers, 27. He had come from Detroit five weeks ago to handle two elephants in the "Arabian Nights" show at Jones Beach State Park on Long Island.

Showers, who used the name Jimmy Mitchell, had appeared on the television program as a promotion for the Jones Beach show. Associates there said he at first declined to go along with the idea but finally gave in and consented to appear. Kelly said that right after the show two persons called the FBI. He did not identify them, but said they were Royal Oak residents "who knew Showers and who were acquainted with the interest of the FBI in him."

Showers had been sought since June 1954, when a complaint was filed in Albany, N.Y., charging him with stealing a convertible car at Royal Oak and selling it in Glens Falls, N.Y. Bail of $1,500 was set for Showers at his arraignment before a U.S. commissioner in Brooklyn.

Blast Damages Rocket Aircraft

Mother Plane Drops It on Bombing Range

EDWARDS, Calif., (AP)—An explosion rocked the world's fastest rocket plane seconds before a mother ship was to release it high above the Mojave Desert.

Research pilot Joseph A. Walker, 34, scrambled up into the mother plane, a B29, and the rocket plane—the stub-winged Bell X1A—was dropped, pilotless, onto a bombing range from 30,000 feet.

An Air Force spokesman said that the B29 was unable to land with the damaged rocket plane hanging from its belly for fear the rocket, still carrying highly volatile fuel, might explode again.

The blast occurred Monday 70 seconds before the B29 was to release the X1A on a test flight above Edwards Air Force Base.

Truth Twisters

By George Sokolsky

SOLOSKY

Back in June, 1955, in the distant before Good Will came upon the Soviet Near Eastern Service, a radio operation like the Voice of America, speaking in Persian, grew wildly excited about what it claimed was very bad advice given to the people of Iran by the Voice of America.

This is the first paragraph of a rather long broadcast: "Some time ago a listener asked the Voice of America whether it is desirable for Iran to develop her industries or agriculture. The Voice of America replied that Iran should not develop and expand her industries, explaining that industrial development is generally suitable for countries with a small area but large population. Such an answer is far from the truth, and does not tally with well-known historic facts."

TRUE, SUCH AN ANSWER would not tally with well-known historic facts. It would be a ridiculous answer. So I became interested and sought to learn why the Voice of America would say anything so foolish. I inquired of Theodore C. Treibart, the director of the United States Information Agency which runs the Voice of America.

He sent me the text of the broadcast upon which the Russian anti-American propaganda was based. The Voice of America broadcast was made on June 15; the Moscow one on June 24. Here is the Voice of America broadcast:

IRAGI: Abdulla Haqai wants to know whether it is better for Iran to become an industrial country or an agricultural country.

GHABRAMANI: Well, that is a problem. Miss Iraki, what do you say? Well, industry and agriculture are the two principal foundations of the economy of a country. And no country can do without either one. But of course the natural conditions of countries have extraordinary effects on this question.

Ghabramani: Obviously a country like Germany which has a population comparatively greater than available areas of arable land should per force concentrate on industry so that through the sale of its industrial products it may be able to provide its agricultural IRAQI: That is right. This is a good instance for Germany is the best example of an industrial country. But as I said before, in my opinion Iran is such that it has possibilities for both agriculture and industry.

Ghabramani: In my opinion since Iran is a vast country and has vast areas of arable land, the people of Iran should, in the first place, endeavor to increase their agricultural produce and meanwhile extend their efforts in order to provide their industrial needs.

THE DISTORTION of the truth by Moscow in this particular instance is significant because as nationalism becomes more intensive, a desire for industrialization grows almost into a mania.

Unfortunately, not every nation can afford to manufacture everything that is manufactured anywhere upon this earth. For instance, not every nation can afford to manufacture a hydrogen bomb; in some instances the cost could absorb most of their national income. This discussion could reach the absurdity that each country produces steel and no country produces wheat.

It would appear that the discussion between Iraki and Ghabramani is sound and the distortion by Moscow sheer anti-American propaganda. What I find so hard to understand is why this discussion takes place at all; the Iranians will do as they please, anyhow. Do we also hand out gratuitous advice to the lovers?

I HAVE NEVER been able quite to understand the propaganda policy of the United States. What are we trying to do? What are we trying to say to the various peoples of the earth? If it is to explain the nature of the American system of life, we are not succeeding because the evidence is that we are so badly understood even by intelligent people.

Several years ago, Dorothy Thompson wrote a piece complaining about how difficult it has been for her to get intelligent foreigners whom she encountered to read basic American material. Why do they not want to understand us; yet they talk so much and so loudly about us?

was urging the prime minister to prevent us from stockpiling A-bombs at our bases here.

Within five years the Communists will have a following more powerful than all government forces combined.

Through the teachers union, they are reaching millions of students with brutal anti-U.S. propaganda. This union has produced such films as the "Children of the Atomic Bomb," which was a Soviet peace prize and would turn your stomach. They have also made pictures call "Hiroshima," and "For a Lasting Peace," a story of our Bikini experiments. See them and you'd think we fry children in radioactive oil.

The Communists use every means they can to drive Japan into a depression, so that the 750,000 jobless of today will multiply to 5 millions and vote the Communists and left-wing Socialists into power.

I OBSERVED one of Takano's maneuvers: There are some 5 million working women here and 500,000 of them, one out of every 10, are prostitutes. The other day Takano and the Socialists got behind a bill to make this grim business illegal, which is a morally correct position.

However, it was learned that Socialists backed the bill because they wanted the 500,000 women to go hungry and be dumped on the labor force. Thus, they would take jobs at any wage, and depress the economy of the country.

Takano's crowd even ran sit-down demonstrations of indignant women in front of the Diet (the Congress) to get the bill passed. It failed. But Takano's labor people are full of such tricks — and many succeed.

It's later than you think here. Just wait until we pull out our troops.

Full of Tricks

By Victor Riesel

TOKYO — American Communists infiltrated the U.S. Army here right after the war — and helped their Japanese comrades launch a powerful pro-Soviet labor movement which is our worst and most powerful enemy in the free East today.

RIESEL

With the Peiping Communist government. It is now so effectively indoctrinating Japanese youth through the Communist led teachers union, that we may some day need to use arms to keep Japan from turning against us and joining with the Sovietized Chinese against free Asia.

The American Communists who become special advisers to our Army back in the occupation are known to some officials here, who vouch for the story. The U.S. Communists somehow infiltrated the U.S. Army after they were ousted from West Coast sections of the United Auto Workers back in 1946 and 1947. They left us a grim heritage here.

ONE OF THEIR neatest tricks was placing Kyuichi Tokuda, secretary general of the Communist Party, on the Japanese Central Labor Relations Committee. This would be the equivalent of President Eisenhower's appointing American Communist Chief William Z. Foster to the National Labor Relations Board to replace Guy Farmer this summer.

Comrade Tokuda was ousted after a while. He fled to Peiping when the Army finally purged Communist leaders in 1950. But Tokuda had done the damage. He had helped the Communists take control of the key unions of government workers, railway workers, teachers and even those Japanese who work for our army today.

Agents of the Japanese secret police, called the Public Security Investigation Board, tell me they believe Tokuda has sneaked back into Japan.

As a result of Tokuda's work, the Communist labor leadership during the days when our Army ruled Japan was able to sign certain agreements with the Japanese government.

THESE FACTS forced the authorities to supply the Communists with free headquarters all over the nation, stationery, operating equipment and the salary for one union official for every 300 workers employed by the heavily unionized Japanese government bureaus. These union officials did little but spread Communist propaganda.

In other words, the Japanese government, under our occupation, was forced by some U.S. officials to help finance the Communist movement here.

Thus the Communies were able to beat down the democratic and pro-U.S. labor elements. Thus the dominant labor federation, Sohyo, was led until two weeks ago by a Minoru Takano, former Communist youth organizer and one of the Orient's most brilliant Leninist theoreticians. He was Sohyo's director of the General Office of the Council, with the combined power of a George Meany and a Walter Reuther.

TAKANO SPENT much time in Peiping. He returned to Japan to exert terrific political power. He was received by the prime minister whenever he sought an appointment. One of his latest moves

Ike's Gifts

GETTYSBURG, PA. — If part-time farmer Dwight D. Eisenhower holds onto that city job in Washington for another five years or so, he may have to move out of his farmhouse.

The way people keep giving him things for the 180-acre farm, the time could come when there wouldn't be enough room left for the President, his wife and his golf clubs.

Cows, farm equipment, furniture—most everywhere the President goes somebody gives him something. And Ike Eisenhower goes a lot of places.

Nobody has troubled to keep books but it's known that the President has received at least eight head of livestock, mostly Black Angus, since word got around he was interested in building a herd.

THIS IS IN ADDITION to among other things:

- Two pigs, one of them named Pansy.
- A flock of chickens.
- A chain saw.
- A spice box for Mrs. Eisenhower.
- An antique sofa and an equally antique fireplace mantel, both presented by the white house staff.
- A 30-foot flagpole and a hand-carved Maine pine American flag.
- A silver Paul Revere bowl.
- And, most recently, from the American Legion Boys Nation, a 1/2-horse power cultivator.

on the President — livestock breeders, Republican clubs — even Democrats. The latest Black Angus heifer, blue bonnet, was presented at a Women's National Press Club affair by Democratic congressional leaders Sam Rayburn and Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

Usually the people who make these gifts have nothing to gain from the White House — except, sometimes, a little incidental publicity. The makers of one piece of farm equipment, for instance, were overjoyed that their trade name showed up in news photographs.

GIVING THINGS to presidents is an old American custom—and one that the presidents sometimes regard wryly. "That's the way it always is," Harry S. Truman once remarked, "people wait until you have everything in the world, and then they give you something."

Eisenhower likewise tossed off a good-humoredly ironic remark when he wound up a New England trip laden down with everything from two calves to a little evergreen tree (now planted on the farm) from Skowhegan, Me.

"I have accumulated so many gifts," he said, "that I am moved to remind the chairman there is one very important thing he forgot he should have provided a truck to carry them in."

Only a fraction of the gifts made to Eisenhower are for his farm. "Official" gifts, such as art works from eminent foreign visitors, stay in the White House or go to such public places as the Smithsonian Institution. Others go to the Eisenhower museum in Abilene, Kan.

By Ed Creagh

In the form of a Christmas tree, a made-on-a-sewing-machine tapestry portrait of himself and Mrs. Eisenhower, a gold nugget set into a tie pin, a Hopalong Cassidy good luck charm from a small girl admirer, a solid gold desk set valued at $5,000.

He maybe — and, in fact, has been — sent Bibles in 78 languages, a goldplated horseshoe, a guaranteed original shillelagh, a section of the original rail used in completing the first cross-country railroad, and the collected speeches of a man he heard a lot about in 1952, Adlai E. Stevenson.

11 Airmen Due In U.S. Friday

Will Then Be Flown To Bases Near Homes

TOKYO, (AP)—Eleven happy U.S. airmen today officially got the news they prayed for during 32 long months in Communist captivity—"home this weekend."

The Air Force said Col. John Knox Arnold and the 10 other fliers freed by Red China last week will leave aboard two berth-equipped C-54s Wednesday for Travis Air Force Base, Calif., via Midway and Hawaii.

Arriving at Travis Friday morning, they will continue aboard two fast two-engine Convoys to the military or civilian airports closest home.

They were told they should be home Saturday, or Sunday at the very latest.

The fliers said they preferred no mass meeting with relatives at Travis, as proposed.

On the eve of their departure, all 11 fliers will be entertained by an orchestra and floor show at the base officers' club. "It will be a mild floor show, no strip show or anything like that," an Air Force spokesman said.

Portsmouth Group Discusses Airport With Officials Here

Marion city officials met this morning with civic officials of Portsmouth who are making a survey of airports and airport conditions in Ohio. The men are interested in the Portsmouth vicinity.

Attending the meeting this morning were Pete Schofield of the Civil Aeronautics Administration who has been working with Portsmouth officials; Mark Savage of Columbus, a member of the Ohio Aviation Board; LeRoy Compton, chairman of the citizens aviation and airport committee of Portsmouth; John J. Green, editor of The Portsmouth Times; Mayor Harold Robinson of Marion and Safety-Service Director John Davis of Marion.

The visitors arrived here about 10:30 and went into conference with the local officials who explained the proceedings of the local airfield from the time of the introduction of the bond issue to the present. From here, the group will travel to Mansfield and then to Zanesville to study the airport facilities there.

Motorist Arrested In Morrow Crash

Marion state highway patrolmen today reported one traffic accident outside Marion County.

It occurred on Route 42, four-tenths of a mile south of Cardington in Morrow County at 5:20 p.m. Monday.

Patrolmen reported a car driven by Herma W. Wolf of Glendale, Mo., passing another vehicle operated by Sam Linstedt, 76, of near Cardington, cut back too quickly and struck the Linstedt car.

Both cars were traveling north on Route 42. There was considerable damage to the Wolf car and minor damage to the Linstedt vehicle.

Herma Wolf was arrested on a charge of driving in the path of other traffic following the mishap and fined $15 and costs by Mayor Don Healea of Cardington yesterday.

Expects Full Support

Chandler Feels Confident After Winning Primary

VERSAILLES, Ky. (AP)—A. B. (Happy) Chandler, with a political past and future built on a smiling but indomitable personality, refused to relax today while enjoying his second Democratic nomination for governor.

The 57-year-old former governor, U. S. senator and baseball commissioner, three pounds heavier after a grueling political comeback fight to overcome a state administration firmly entrenched for eight years, confidently predicted victory in November.

He flashed the smile which has been a trademark since earning him the nickname "Happy" as a boy and said, "I am certain that many thousands of registered Republicans will find our program worthy of their support."

He expressed confidence Democrats will "close ranks" for the election despite his vigorous attacks on the administrations of Gov. Lawrence Wetherby and his predecessor, U. S. Sen. Earle Clements.

They backed Judge Bert T. Combs for the nomination. Combs also had the support of Sen. Alben Barkley, the former vice president who handed Chandler his only political defeat in a senatorial primary.

Chandler's victory against such formidable opposition came 20 years after his first stunning political upset, when he won the gubernatorial nomination over administration-backed Thomas Rhea.

It was won with a 10-month, 900-speech campaign in which Chandler took only one day off, exclusive of Sundays.

Chandler was elected lieutenant governor in 1931, governor in 1935 and U. S. senator in 1940 and 1942.

He quit the Senate to become baseball commissioner in 1945 and was considered politically dead by many observers on leaving the baseball post four years ago.

Faces 3 Others

In the Nov. 8 general election, he will face former U.S. Dist. Atty. Edwin R. Denney, 51, winner of the Republican nomination in Saturday's primary; former Asst. State Atty. Gen. Jesse K. Lewis, an independent; and the Rev. Robert H. Garrison, Prohibition

60 Men Cross Ocean To Vote For Freedom

DETROIT (AP)—Sixty men set out today on a 3,000-mile trip across the Atlantic Ocean to "save San Marino."

The rescue was intended by way of ballot box.

Time is short. The election is Sunday.

San Marino is a tiny nation of 14,000 population in the heart of the Italian Apennine Mountains. It is under Communist control.

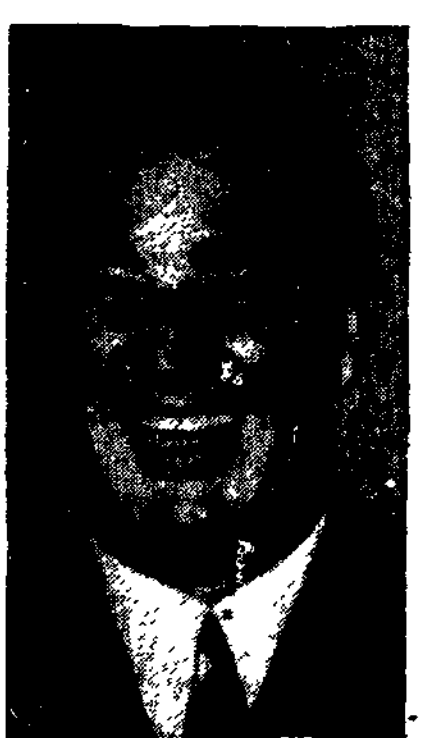

Some 44 Detroiters, all immigrants from San Marino and still citizens of the little country while their U.S. citizenship applications are pending, aim to try to vote out the Communists.

Sixteen other, like-minded San Marinese of New York are to join up with the Detroit group in New York tonight, and they'll fly to Italy.

On Sunday, they'll all vote, against the Communists and in favor of the anti-Communist Christian Democrats.

Humbert Mularoni, Detroit tile company owner, is a backer of the expedition, but he can't go. He's a citizen of the United States.

He said that in the last election

A. B. (HAPPY) CHANDLER Predicts Victory in November

party candidate. Lewis and the Rev. Mr. Garrison entered by petition.

Meantime, tabulation of the primary returns continued with no concession from former Appellate Judge Bert T. Combs, 43, that he had lost to Chandler.

However, there were not enough votes remaining in the mountain section, Combs' home area upon which he counted heavily, to overturn Chandler's lead.

Returns from 3,328 of Kentucky's 4,074 precincts gave:

Chandler 222,694; Combs 204,506; Jesse N. R. Cecil 4,877.

Returns from 2,881 gave:

Denney 56,621; James L. Clay, 49-year-old attorney, 15,673.

Chandler, who was U.S. senator in 1939-45 and gave up that post to become baseball commissioner, scored his victory over the powerful regular state organization headed by U.S. Sen. Earle C. Clements, acting Senate majority leader, and Gov. Lawrence Wetherby, plus Sen. Alben W. Barkley, former vice president.

While Republicans were hoping the Democratic split would help in putting a GOP governor back in office, Chandler extended the hand of friendship to his Democratic primary opponents and said, "I anticipate the Democrats will close ranks for the November election."

In 1951 the Communists had a majority of only 120.

Detroit's group leader is Giovanni Michelotti, 31, farmer's son, college graduate and former member of the San Marino National Assembly.

Michelotti, a nephew of Mularoni came to the United States two years ago.

the peace court with having threatened to expose and publish her criminal record if she and her husband filed suit against Kerns' father, Floyd Kerns, a former state representative.

The disagreement arose over an arrangement in which the Phipps couple were to move into a house and operate a filling station and restaurant, north of Summersville, for the senior Kerns.

The alleged blackmail took place Sept. 26, 1954. Kerns was bound over to the county grand jury on July 5 and indicted on the blackmail charge on July 13.

The acquittal verdict was returned just a half hour after both sides rested their cases at 2:30 p.m. yesterday. The trial had opened at 10:30 a.m. yesterday.

Employment

and 5.3 per cent a year ago.

Almost the entire job increase in the month occurred in non-farming activities. Total nonfarm employment, as counted by the Census Bureau, rose by 900,000 to 57 million, a record of the season.

Factory payrolls held steady at 16,600,000 in July as a continued expansion of production almost offset the effect of vacation shutdowns. Since the first of the year, more than half a million workers have been added to factory payrolls, the largest January-to-July gain since 1950.

However, the average factory work week diminished by 24 minutes—from 40.7 hours to 40.3. This, however, was almost an hour longer than the work week a year ago. Unemployment among young persons was reduced in July as more of them located summer jobs. More significant, the statement said, was the continued drop in joblessness among adult men, which usually rises slightly in July.

they felt was needed most, some form of taxation was suggested by 265 persons. Other means than taxation, such as subscription, contributions, benefits and industry, were mentioned by 236 persons. Those who preferred not to answer or did not know numbered 597.

A total of 535 said they would support taxation for more recreation in Marion, while 225 definitely said no. An additional 154 thought they might support it, with certain limitations, while 184 said they did not know.

THE LAST QUESTION on the survey was in regard to the use of schools for community recreation. Use of the schools for community activities was approved by 598 persons, with 46 stipulating supervision. Negative answers totaled 109, with an additional 91 persons who said probably or possibly with certain limitations, such as use of playgrounds only.

Miscellaneous answers were given by 142 persons, and 178 said they did not know.

In a short discussion of the survey report, Quaintance said it was interesting to him to note that quite a number of persons had suggested other means than taxation to finance added recreation for Marion, including swimming facilities.

Sixth Ward Councilman Harold Fralich asked Mrs. Duward Myers, League president who presented copies of the report to the councilmen, what these "other means" were. She told him that contributions, subscription, benefits and contributions from industry were most often mentioned.

Fralich then asked Mrs. Myers if the League, as a result of the survey, had formed any opinion as to the relative chances of passage of taxation for a swimming pool. She replied that the League is still studying the subject of recreation and had not reached any conclusions one way or the other.

Councilman-at-Large Richard E. Lister said he felt that the League "should be commended for giving its public opinion on this subject."

The survey was planned by the League's recreation committee which includes Mrs. W. F. O'Brien and Mrs. Leroy D. Sharp, co-chairmen, Mrs. Clifford Baker and Mrs. Myers.

The League report was presented to members of the city board of education just prior to their meeting Monday afternoon, but it was not discussed during the meeting.

Landy Case Is To Get Review

Secretary of Navy Will Make Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Thomas personally will review the record and make the decision on Eugene Landy, denied a Naval Reserve commission because his mother was once a Communist.

Thomas said Monday a special board of officers has been formed to review the case.

Landy, 21, of Bradley Beach, N.J., sailed Sunday on a 30-day trip as a deckhand aboard the supertanker Western Sun from Marcus Hook, Pa., to Beaumont, Tex.

He was graduated with honors from the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N.Y., last Friday but stood silently, hands at his side, while fellow graduates were sworn in as ensigns in the Navy Reserve.

Thomas said a regular naval board unanimously decided against Landy's suitability.

Thomas said Landy then was interviewed by representatives of the Navy Department and the entire case was again reviewed by the regular screening board, which again "unanimously recommended that Mr. Landy should not be granted a commission."

Landy's mother Mrs. Deborah Landy has acknowledged membership in the Communist party during World War II days. She said she gave it up at the insistence of her son.

Witness Avers Ex-POW Urged Shooting of GIs

NEW YORK (AP)—A witness at the court-martial of Sgt. James C. Gallagher says the former POW once advised a Communist instructor to shoot captives who resisted Red indoctrination.

Sgt. I.C. Lloyd W. Pate testified Monday he overheard an instructor named Wong ask Gallagher why the Communist study program was not succeeding.

Pate, who identified himself as the leader of the anti-Communist faction in a North Korean POW camp, said he and his squad were singled out by Gallagher as the obstructionists.

He quoted Gallagher as suggesting to Wong: "If I were in your place, I'd shoot them all." Pate had earlier described a prison camp scene in which he said a sick fellow American died after being beaten. Pate dramatically pointed to Gallagher as the one who did the beating.

Later, under cross-examination, the witness was asked why he had not stepped in to stop the beating. Pate, who was a newcomer at the camp when this allegedly happened, replied, "Sir, I've asked myself that question a thousand times. It was such a shock to me that I was temporarily paralyzed."

Gallagher, a blond young man of 23 from Brooklyn, is being tried on charges of collaborating with his Red captors and of unpremeditated murder of three fellow prisoners.

Power

"The building of these prototype power plants will not only provide information leading to reduced costs, but will also permit a more realistic evaluation of the applicability of nuclear energy for larger scale power production," he said.

Present indications, he said, are that the net fuel costs in all of the reactors being considered—after taking credit for new fissionable fuel material produced at the same time power is produced—will be low enough to make nuclear-powered electricity competitive with coal-produced electricity.

Notes Private Research

Noting that five American industrial groups are planning a "more venturesome" program than the AEC—that is, by building five full-scale reactors—Lane declared that among experts estimating the economic prospects for such plants "the optimists outweigh the pessimists."

Lane's over-all conclusion for his report was that, "taking all available economic and technical information at its face value, it is evident that the outlook for large-scale nuclear power in the United States is very promising."

The Russian scientists, besides saying that their small-sized commercial reactor provides a starting point for nuclear power development in the Soviet, said Russia's operating experience with it "may be of help also to other countries interested in the wide use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes."

Three U.S. scientists also held out promise for remote areas with a paper disclosing development of a new "boiling water" atomic process. They described it as "an important step toward the economical production of nuclear power."

The American experts, from the Argonne Laboratories at Lemont, Ill., said their process involved generation of the steam for the turbines inside the reactor rather than in an external boiler. The boiling inside the reactor previously had been considered unsafe, but the report said this had been disproved.

MRS. WILMA ALLEN Victim of Brutal Murder

No Clues Turn Up in Killing of Kansas Citian

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Officers checking hundreds of tips in the slaying of Mrs. Wilma Allen have failed to turn up any productive leads on her killer.

The FBI, state and local authorities are participating in the search for the slayer of Mrs. Allen, whose nude body was found Sunday in a pasture 20 miles southwest of Kansas City. She was the 34-year-old wife of William R. Allen Jr., wealthy automobile dealer, and the mother of two small children.

Investigators felt the abduction and killing was motivated by sex although robbery and possibly a ransom plan that went awry were not ruled out.

Lewis said robbery had not been ruled out as a motive. He reported no signs of a struggle in the home but said there was "something missing" from the house. He did not elaborate.

Important Meeting in Chicago

Harriman and Stevenson To Huddle on 1956 Race

CHICAGO (AP)—Two top Democrats meet here tonight for a talk that may have an important bearing on the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination contest.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, arriving today for the 47th annual Governors Conference, dines tonight with former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the 1952 Democratic nominee.

May Pop the Question

There are indications that Harriman would like to know privately what Stevenson has been unwilling as yet to say publicly—whether he again will be a candidate.

Stephen A. Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman and a close associate of Stevenson, said in an interview that if Harriman wants to know Stevenson's decision "he certainly can find out."

For himself, Mitchell said he has no doubt that "Stevenson will be running against President Eisenhower next year with a lot better chance of winning than he had in 1952."

Harriman has said repeatedly that he is for Stevenson. But he hasn't indicated any certainty that the former Illinois governor will run. And most politicians think he needs to have that information long before an expected announcement by Stevenson next November.

Sees Democratic Victory

Harriman, in a radio interview in New York Monday, said the people are swinging away from the Republicans and will vote them out next year even if President Eisenhower runs.

He said that Eisenhower is popular, but added this popularity could not stand the test of a campaign.

"There has been an extraordinary swing away from the Republican party, a disillusionment in the last two years," he said.

Asked whether he would try for the Democratic nomination, he repeated that he is for Stevenson.

California's Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight told a news conference he thinks Harriman would give Eisenhower the strongest opposition from within the Democratic ranks. He said Stevenson is weakened by being a defeated candidate.

Knight and Gov. William G. Stratton, Illinois Republican, professed firm convictions that Eisenhower will run again.

Lausche Will Tell About Truck Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche said today he would explain Ohio's truck tax views to executives of other states at the national governor's conference in Chicago this week.

Lausche plans to hold a luncheon for governors of states having motor vehicle reciprocity agreements with Ohio.

Ohio has asked those states to modify the agreements to exclude reciprocity on Ohio's axle mile tax.

Truck taxes also may come up for discussion at a session on inter-governmental relations at the conference Thursday, Lausche speculated.

Gov. and Mrs. Lausche leave at 1:30 p.m. today to attend the conference that runs through Friday.

Ohio's truck tax difficulties resulted from a recent Ohio Supreme Court decision. The court ordered refunds to Michigan truckers and officials said Ohio might have to make similar payments to truckers in other states. The court said an Ohio-Michigan reciprocity agreement applied to the axle tax.

Bronx Shoemaker To Make His Big $64,000 Decision Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—The $64,000 question today was: "Will opera whiz Gino Prato try for the $64,000?"

Or will he take the $32,000 he already has won, and call it quits?

The 55-year-old Bronx shoemaker says he probably won't make his decision until he enters the studio tonight to appear on the CBS-TV giveaway program, "The $64,000 Question." (9 p.m. EST).

Spouse Knifed Himself, Bride Tells Officials

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Geraldine Terry, a 23-year-old blonde charged with the butcher knife slaying of her husband of three weeks, pleaded innocent Monday.

She was freed on a $10,000 bond after she told the court that her husband, Bill Lee Terry, an attorney, was stabbed fatally when he fell on a butcher knife during a struggle with her.

Her foster father, Glenver McConnell, former Tulsa city water commissioner, offered 200 shares of U.S. Steel Corp. stock as security for the bond. Judge Lewis C. Johnson accepted it and set Aug. 30 for trial.

Mrs. Terry said her husband left the house "so drunk he could hardly stand," after an argument. She said they continued to quarrel upon his return and he got a butcher knife from the kitchen.

The statement said Terry told her he was going to kill her. She said that in the struggle that followed, she got hold of the handle of the knife and as he lunged at her he lost his balance and fell against the blade.

Ailing Man, Wife Walk Out in Front Of Train to Death

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—An ailing, pajama-clad man and his wife walked arm in arm into the path of a speeding express train Monday night and were killed.

In their car near the tracks was found a suicide note saying, "We can't stand it any longer."

Killed were William Martin, 63, and his wife Louise, 61, of Dunbridge.

Paul Jensen, of Toledo, engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad's New York-bound flyer Red Arrow, said he saw the couple step onto the tracks and start walking away from the train. He said they looked back once, then turned straight ahead and the engine hit them from the back.

Their only child, Mrs. Rosanna David, said her father had been in ill health recently.

Two Marion gridders of the past season at Harding and St. Mary High Schools have been awarded four-year football scholarships to Bowling Green State University.

Recipients of grant and aid grid scholarships are Frank D'Eramo, six-foot four, 205-pound lineman from Harding, and Roger Micheli, five-foot, eleven, 190-pound back from St. Mary.

Both gridders have been working out at Harding Stadium and plan to step up workouts in the next few weeks in preparation for freshman football at Bowling Green. D'Eramo and Micheli starred on Harding and St. Mary grid teams the past two years.

D'Eramo, an offensive tackle and defensive end, lettered two years on Harding squads which posted identical 6-2-1 records both seasons. Micheli quarterbacked only one losing Irish grid squad the past two years. Both gridders also were on the Harding and St.

Tribe Opening Series Against Detroit
While Red Sox Invade Yankees' Park

Chisox To Battle Athletics
In Bid To Stretch Margin

By The Associated Press

Three-game series opening tonight could be the beginning of the end for New York, Boston, Cleveland or Detroit in the frenzied American League pennant race.

While first place Chicago tries to get the suddenly not-so-listless Kansas City Athletics back in perspective, Boston rumbles into New York and Cleveland is host to Detroit.

The Yankees are just three percentage points behind the White Sox. Third-place Cleveland is half a game back. Fourth-place Boston is 1½ behind. Detroit, in fifth, is 5½ short.

The Yanks and Red Sox must play each other 12 times yet. The Indians and Tigers have a dozen scraps left to go. And in 10 days, while the White Sox play six games with sixth-place Kansas City, half of those 12 dates will be completed.

What's more, all four of the clubs chasing the White Sox must face the other contenders in more than half of their remaining games.

Chicago has the best spot—with 48 games to go, but only 23 against the next four clubs. Detroit is the worst off, slated to play 31 of its remaining 45 games against the first division.

Manager Al Lopez will send Southpaw Herb Score to the mound in tonight's opener against the Tigers. Score will be seeking his 11th win. He has lost nine. He is slated to oppose Ned Garver.

After the three-game set with Detroit, the Tribe takes off for four in Kansas City and three in Detroit before returning home for a three-week stand of 18 games.

Larry Doby who was benched in the finale at Washington will be back in his old stand in centerfield, Lopez said. Al Smith, who was rested in the Washington game, also probably will be in the outfield.

Mike Garcia is slated to hurl the second game tomorrow with Early Wynn expected to get the nod on Thursday. Lopez also hinted that Sal Maglie, recently acquired from the New York Giants, probably would get another test in the series at Kansas City. Bob Lemon is still on the injury list and Lopez isn't counting on him until next week at the earliest.

After his Yanks lost series to Chicago and Cleveland and split with Detroit on their current home stand, Manager Casey Stengel today tagged the Red Sox as "Maybe the toughest yet."

In Monday's only game, the Brooklyn Dodgers lost 1-3 to Chicago with the usually unreachably Don Newcombe shut off from what could have been his 19th victory.

It was Newk's second defeat of the season, and both have been to the Cubs. This time it was a home run by Gene Baker, who had

Fridley's Blast
Brings Denver
Team 2-1 Win

By The Associated Press

The top teams in the American Assn. won their games last night. Minneapolis handed the Charleston Senators a 5-3 defeat, a broken-bat home run by Jim Fridley gave Denver a 2-1 victory over Louisville, Omaha shut out Indianapolis, 7-0, and Toledo thumped St. Paul, 9-3.

The Millers broke a sixth inning 2-2 tie with two runs in the seventh and another in the eighth for their victory.

Fridley's homer came off loser Al Curtis with one out in the sixth inning. The Bears outfielder slivered his bat on the drive which carried over the 339-foot leftfield wall.

Toledo snapped a four-game losing streak by downing St. Paul. The victory was delivered on four-hit pitching and a pair of homers that accounted for all runs with two out in the first and eighth innings.

Harry Hanebrink hit a grand slam homer in a 6-run first inning and Felix Mantilla hit a 3-run homer in the eighth.

Humberto Robinson and Charlie Gorin teamed up to silence St. Paul bats. Robinson allowed only four hits in six innings, and Gorin came to his aid in the seventh with two on and no one out and retired nine men in order.

Redlegs Move
To Chicago for Four Contests

CHICAGO (U)—The power packed Cincinnati Redlegs will attempt to climb the National League ladder at the expense of the Chicago Cubs in a four game series.

Johnny Klippstein, a Chicagoan for five seasons, was down to pitch for the Reds today. Left-hander Jim Davis was set to go for the Cubs.

The fifth place Cubs, 2½ games in front of the sixth place Cincinnatians, have trimmed the Reds in seven of their 11 meetings. Manager Birdie Tebbetts' boys have won only once at Wrigley Field this season. That was during a July 4 doubleheader.

Chicago completed a three-game sweep against the league leading Dodgers yesterday but Tebbetts is counting on his four 300 hitters, Wally Post, Ted Kluszewski, Smokey Burgess and Gus Bell to club the Cubs. The Reds were not scheduled yesterday.

Florida has 130,000 more people moving into it than move out in an average year.

Williams May Return

NEW YORK (U)—Davey Williams, one of the sparkplugs in the New York Giants' 1951 and 1954 pennant drives, may not be through with baseball after all.

The 24-year-old second baseman learned Monday there is no evidence of a slipped disc in his spine — an injury which probably would have ended his five-year major league career to an end.

When a Greensboro, N. C., market was broken into the only items missing were two fishing poles valued at $2.10.

Clips Isaly 10-4

Vance Takes Lead in Play For City Little Loop Crown

Vance Sporting Goods attempts to cop the city Little League title in two straight games tonight on Robert Scott Field.

The National loop champs grabbed the series opener from Isaly Dairy's American League titlists 10-4 last night for a commanding position in the best two-out-of-three game series for the city Little League championship.

Lefty Sanders silenced Isaly's bats on four hits and his teammates gave him easy sailing with five runs in the first inning.

Sanders, who struck out five and walked four, was tagged for two runs by Isaly in the opening frame on one hit but Vance came back with five markers on four hits in his half of the inning, got two more in the second and three in the third completed the winners' scoring.

Gerald Bosh clouted a home run with Ken Coffee and Larry Crowe aboard to start off Vance's big first inning. With two out, Dan Roseberry singled and Billy Swartz walked to set the stage for Dan Henderson's two-run single.

A lead-off single by Coffee in the second and a fielder's choice marked the exit of Isaly starter Chuck Paulus and brought on Ricky Ishida. He was greeted by a single by Tom Larkin and then an error and a walk enabled Coffee and Larkin to score and put Vance in front 7-2.

Vance scored three times on two hits in the bottom of the third after Isaly tallied its third run in the top of the same frame on a single by Larry Ishida, an error, a passed ball and a stolen base.

Roger Rankin scored the first third-inning marker when he walked, moved to third on singles by Larry Crowe and Tom Larkin, and came in on a fielder's choice. Crowe scored on a stolen base and Gerald Bosh, who reached first on a fielder's choice, tallied when Ishida walked three straight batters.

Sanders gave up the final Isaly run in the fifth when Larry Ishida cracked out a homer.

The winners collected 10 hits off Isaly hurling. Paulus was tagged for six runs and five hits while fanning one and walking two. Ishida surrendered five hits and gave up four runs in the four frames he worked. He struck out one and walked eight.

Coffee, Crowe and Larkin all had two hits apiece to pace the Vance hitting attack. Sanders with a double had Vance's second extra base hit.

Larry Ishida collected two hits for Isaly.

Local 750 Falls From Tourney

Marion's second entry in the district softball tournament at Mansfield fell by the wayside last night. Local 750 bowed to Mount Vernon Victory Market, defending tourney champs, 5-2.

Three runs in the top of the seventh provided Mount Vernon with the margin of victory. Each squad scored once in the first and Local 750 came back with a tally in the fourth for a temporary 2-1 lead before the winners tied it up in the fifth.

Both Harold Belt of Local 750 and Ralph Johnson of Mount Vernon allowed only five hits to the opposition.

Merrill Loper and Belt were Local 750's hitting stars. Both collected two hits, with Loper banging out a lead-off homer in the first. Ellis Hauger had a double and triple for Mount Vernon, the triple starting off Mount Vernon's seventh inning rally. He scored the tie-breaking run moments later on another Mount Vernon hit.

Another Marion team will bow out of district tournament competition tonight. Mac's Trading Post faces Erie in the opener at 7:30 p.m. on Gorman-Rupp Field.

The winner comes back Wednesday night to meet the winner of tonight's second contest between Mansfield Gorman-Rupp and Mansfield Wareham Barbers.

Marionite To Race

Bill Collier of Marion will be among the top 20 drivers of the season to compete Friday night in the Tiffin Speedway's annual mid-season Silver Wheel Race.

The event is slated to get under way at 8:30 and will highlight a complete racing card. The championship dash will include 25 laps around the 3/4-mile dirt track. Also competing will be Clarence Ray of Forest, who is the fifth-ranking driver at the oval.

Nebraska has 4,782 miles of railroad.

HODGES GETS COMPETITION FROM FANS. Brooklyn Dodgers first baseman Gil Hodges (on far side of wall) reaches among spectators who are trying as valiantly as he to reach a pop foul hit by Randy Jackson of the Chicago Cubs into box seats at Wrigley Field, Chicago. Play came in first inning. Ball is in center of photo falling past shoulder of man in dark sports shirt.

VFW Winner In Playoff for Pony Pennant

VFW, second round Pony League champs, continued their winning ways by defeating G & G Homes 6-3 in the opener of their three-game series for the city Pony League crown last night at Lincoln Park.

A five-run outburst in the first inning settled the issue early and Steve Flesher went on to hand-cut G & G Homes on three hits, two of which came in the final inning when the losers scored all of their runs.

Flesher fanned 11, walked six and hit a pair of batters in hurling VFW to the triumph.

Pete Porietas led off the first with a double to put starter Bob Middleton of G & G behind the eight ball at the start. He moved to third on a stolen base and scored on Dale Walters' sacrifice.

Mike Chamberlain followed with a single, moved to second on a passed ball and scored on Flesher's hit. Flesher, after moving to third on an error and passed ball, scored when Steve Jenkins tripled off Don Conkle, who had relieved Middleton. He came across with the inning's fourth run and Dave Rouse scored the final tally of the frame when he walked and circled the bases on a stolen base, a passed ball and an error.

Following the first inning rally, VFW was held to two hits the rest of the way by Conkle and Bob Simmons, who came on in the fifth. VFW's final marker in the third resulted from a walk to Flesher. He advanced to third on a pair of stolen bases and scored on Jenkins' second hit of the game.

Conkle tagged Flesher for G & G's first hit of the game in the fourth and then two more in the seventh helped the first round Pony League champs spoil Flesher's shutout.

A walk and hit batsman started off the inning. Following a fielder's choice, Middleton banged out a single to drive in John Maag who had been hit by Flesher. An error and hit by Conkle before the third out climaxed the rally.

Middleton, Conkle and Simmons gave up only six hits to VFW. Middleton was tagged for three runs and three hits. Conkle gave up three runs and three hits while fanning seven and walking two.

Simmons hurled two innings of runless and hitless ball and struck out four while walking one.

Porietas and Jenkins both had two hits for the winners. Conkle also had two for G & G.

Second series contest between VFW and G & G Homes, who won the first round Pony League title in a playoff game with VFW, is carded Wednesday night.

Prater Suffers Injury, Out of All-Star Battle

Bob Prater, Marion's only entry in the Ohio High School North-South game, will miss the annual classic after suffering an injury in yesterday's drills.

The former Harding ace suffered a thigh injury and will be removed from the North roster. He had been counted on heavily in the defensive plans of North coach Mel Knowlton of Alliance.

Another injury in the North camp was End Gary Praht of Berea. He suffered a rib injury during one of two long drills and will be out of action. The Berea star and Prater were replaced by Jim Heider of Toledo Waite and Bob Bowman of Niles.

Three southerners also were injured yesterday and will miss the kickoff Friday night. All five injured players will remain at Mansfield as guests of the sponsoring group, the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association.

Ellison Kelly of Sandusky, Harding foe last season, is one of Knowlton's offensive starters.

Tryout Camp Set

The Cincinnati Redlegs will conduct a tryout camp at Bucyrus Lions Field Wednesday and Thursday. Sessions will be started both days at 10 a.m.

The camp will be under the direction of Tommy Thompson, Buddy Bloebaum and Ted Baker.

GAMES CANCELLED
No Church League contests were played last night at Garfield Park due to a mixup. Since several members of the Epworth squad which was to have played last night were playing with Local 750 in the district tournament at Mansfield, the games were called off.

Former Elyria Star Named to Harding Post

Bob Messaros, native of Elyria and former football ace at Miami University at Oxford, has been hired as an assistant coach at Harding High School.

He was awarded a contract after yesterday's meeting of the Marion City Board of Education.

Messaros will handle the ends under Coach Gordon K. Larson, new head coach for the Pseixes.

A native of Elyria, Messaros graduated from High School there after three years of varsity football, basketball and track action. While in high school he was a teammate of Vic Janowicz, all-American and Hesman Trophy winner at Ohio State, and of Tony Curcillo, another backfield ace at OSU.

The new Pseixy aide received his degree from Miami last June after a one-year delay in his college studies. He attended the Oxford school on a four-year scholarship won during his high school grid career.

While a member of the Redskin squad, he was a roommate to Marion's Lloyd (Punkie) Williams. The two were running mates at guard for Ara Parseghian's eleven. During his final year at Miami, he taught wrestling and boxing in the Physical Education Department.

In addition to his grid duties here, Messaros will be charged with coaching the Harding tennis squad.

The new coach is married and is the father of a 16-month-old son. The family is now seeking living quarters in Marion. Messaros will assume his duties here when the Pseixy squad opens grid drills Aug. 20.

Wisconsin 'Hot Spot' for Polio

Incidence Is Higher Than in Other States

CHICAGO (U)—The number of polio cases in Wisconsin has doubled in the first seven months of 1935 in sharp contrast to other Midwest states.

Figures released Monday by the U. S. Public Health Service show a 26 per cent drop in polio cases in 10 Midwest states from Jan. 1 through July 31. Throughout the nation, the incidence of polio dropped 26 per cent during the period.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said the number of cases in Wisconsin has continued to climb alarmingly since July 31.

The foundation said it has rushed gamma globulin, iron lungs and other equipment to two polio "hot spots" in Wisconsin—Outagamie County (Appleton) and West Allis a suburb of Milwaukee—to help meet the outbreak.

Here is the state by state breakdown: Illinois, 23 cases; Indiana, 87; Iowa, 138; Michigan, 224; Minnesota, 103; Missouri, 64; Nebraska, 82; North Dakota, 22; South Dakota, 29; and Wisconsin, 171.

Jurors To Be Seated In Ohio Sheriff's Trial

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (U)—Twelve jurors will undergo further questioning today before being sworn in at the trial of Jackson County Sheriff David L. Trago, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The morals charge was brought by the mother of Airman David L. Hatfield, 17, of Gallipolis, for an incident allegedly occurring last July 1. Hatfield is scheduled for overseas shipment Aug. 12, but the prosecution may hold him here for the remainder of the trial.

Trago previously was acquitted in another morals case in his home county.

Junk Crosses Pacific, Carries Diplomat Home

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—A 78-foot sailing junk nosed into San Francisco Bay Monday night after a 53-day voyage across 6,000 miles of the ocean from Formosa. Aboard were five Chinese and an American diplomat.

This is the end of the trip for Calvin E. Mehler, whose home is Fresno, Calif. He plans to return to his post as U. S. vice consul at Taipei, Formosa. The Chinese, who owned the vessel, plan to go on.

"We hope to take the junk around the world," said Chung Yu-ling, skipper.

The homicide rate of the United States is more than twice that of Canada and Australia, about three times that of Scotland and six times that of England.

Bartender Can Water Whisky, Court Rules

ST. LOUIS (U)—A bartender can add water to whisky, the U. S. Court of Appeals rules, but can't put more whisky in the bottle.

The 2-1 decision was handed down Monday on the basis that the federal law forbidding the addition of "any substance" to a partly filled liquor bottle referred to a "substance" on which a tax is due. No tax is due on water.

The ruling was on the government's appeal of eight cases which had been dismissed in St. Paul, Minn.

Johnson Expects To Be Okay Soon

WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) says confidently he will return as Democratic Senate leader next January.

In his first news conference since July 2, when he suffered a heart attack, he showed every sign Monday of a recovery which his doctor told him should make him "as good as new" by autumn.

He described as a "partisan analysis" what President Eisenhower said of the congressional session just ended.

He said Republicans were far more responsible than Democrats for failure of three of four bills the President said Congress should have acted upon: the highway building program, health legislation, federal school aid and water resources.

Martin and Lewis To Stay as Team

HOLLYWOOD (U)—Martin and Lewis say they're going to keep on being Martin and Lewis.

After weeks of feuding, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis met Monday in the office of Paramount boss Y. Frank Fregman. Afterward the studio said that the pair "agreed to continue on as America's highest paid comedy team."

Martin said later: "We both agreed to fulfill the contracts, go back to work, and try and make the best of everything."

Lewis wasn't available for comment.

Truck Drivers Strike

CLEVELAND (U)—A wage dispute halted steel-hauling operations of the Elmer C. Brewer Co. yesterday at terminals here and in Canton and Warren, affecting about 135 AFL teamsters.

The union called the strike a wildcat walkout and said the dispute grew out of less rates between the company and owner-operators and not out of hourly rates for driving.

LOS ANGELES, UP—Although a 16-year-old Hawaiian girl stowaway is going to be sent back home, she'll have at least a week in California.

Joyce Joan Pilapil is charged with delinquency by "secreting herself and remaining aboard" the Canadian destroyer Athabaskan. The U.S. Commissioner ordered her held in juvenile hall under $500 bail, pending a full hearing next Monday. The U.S. Attorney and the probation service said they will recommend that she be returned to her parents in Hilo.

The girl told the commissioner she would like to get in touch with an uncle in San Francisco and see some of the West Coast, provided, of course, he would go her bail. The hearing was closed and the uncle's name was not disclosed.

'Atoms-for-Peace' Awards Planned By Ford Brothers

GENEVA UP—Henry Ford II and his two brothers, Benson and William Clay Ford, have created a million-dollar fund to provide annual atoms-for-peace awards for the next 10 years.

Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission told of this development today at a special news conference on the opening of the world atoms-for-peace parley.

Strauss said he was acting at the request of the president of the Ford Motor Co., who reported the decision to establish the awards was inspired by President Eisenhower's expression of hope that private business will provide an incentive in finding new ways to use atomic energy for peace.

The project was undertaken as a memorial to the late Henry Ford and Edsel B. Ford, grandfather and father of the three younger Fords. The Ford Fund is a nonprofit corporation established for educational, scientific and charitable purposes.

Strauss explained that each year an international jury of awards will select an individual or a group of individuals to receive a grant of $75,000 and "a suitable medal." The recipients will be selected from among the world's scientists, inventors and engineers "without regard for nationality or political belief."

Figures He's Waited Long Enough!

The long-striding, fast-moving man you see in this picture has made the right decision at the right time!

For the past year or so, he has been thinking about a Cadillac—and he has finally made up his mind.

He is through with compromise and doubt and wonder. This time, he is going after the real thing!

And how lucky he is that he made that decision today! For wonderful news of a special nature is waiting for him.

He'll find, for instance, that Cadillac ownership is far more practical now than ever before. He'll learn, in fact, that the lowest-priced Cadillac can be purchased for little more than he might expect to pay for a goodly number of the so-called medium-price cars.

He'll also find that his dealer—because of a low used-car inventory—is in a position to offer him a very generous allowance on his present car.

And he'll discover that, because of Cadillac's greatly increased production during the current year, he can take title to his new Cadillac after a surprisingly short waiting period.

And all these special inducements, of course, are in addition to the other great Cadillac virtues—such as legendary dependability and long life... remarkable economy of upkeep and operation... and traditionally higher resale value.

All in all, he's walking in on the motor car opportunity of a lifetime!

And how about you? Have you been postponing your dreams of a Cadillac?

If so, there's no reason to wait any longer. Come on in and see us. Let us put you behind the wheel of a Cadillac... and give you the whole, wonderful story of the "car of cars." We think you, too, will decide that you've waited long enough!

Around City Council's Table

Marion City Council adopted six pieces of legislation, sent two others to committee for further study, ordered re-drafting of another, and discussed other items of business at its meeting Monday night in City Hall.

$20 Claim Approved

Adopted unanimously was an ordinance authorizing the city solicitor to settle and pay a claim to Frank G. Daum for $20 for loss of tulip bulbs which employees of the sanitation department inadvertently took on July 21.

Sewer Job Set

Also adopted unanimously was a resolution of necessity to improve E. George St. by the construction of a sanitary sewer. City Engineer John Ruth recommended that this sewer be constructed either under the walks or on easement strips of land adjacent to the walks.

New Plat Accepted

Following some discussion as to the necessity of a "concerted plan of action" for the growth of Marion, council members unanimously accepted the plat of Zachman-Vernon Acres.

In accepting the plat, council noted that it had earlier received the approval of the city planning commission. Harold Fralich, sixth ward councilman, brought up the need for an overall plan which council might follow when considering the acceptance of plats, especially in regard to sewer service and possible annexation of adjacent land to the city. He added that he did not know what the answer to the problem was, but thought that action for study was needed now.

Authorization Granted

Property owners of Uhler Rd., south of Mt. Vernon Ave., were authorized to build their own sanitary sewer at their own expense, under the direction and specifications of the city engineer.

This action was taken after a petition signed by nine property owners on Uhler Rd. was presented to council on June 23, asking for the approval to construct their own sanitary sewer. The sewer would run approximately 900 feet south from Mt. Vernon Ave.

Bond Sale Okayed

Sale of special assessment street improvement bonds in the amount of $59,500 was authorized to Sweney, Cartwright and Company of Columbus on their bid. The successful bid of the Columbus firm carries an interest of 2 3/4 percent. They are to be dated April 1 and 30, 1955 and will be due on Sept. 1, 1956 through 1960.

Pay Raise Studied

A request for a pay raise for sanitation department employees was sent back to the municipal services and finance ways and means committee for further study.

Don Quaintance, fifth ward councilman and chairman of the finance ways and means committee, reported that no conclusion was reached in a meeting last week, and that the group would meet next week and the matter would again come up for discussion. He said there would be some action at that time, and a report made at the next council meeting.

The present pay scale of $1.31 an hour for drivers in the sanitation department is considered too low compared with the present cost of living, department employees previously told council.

Parking Ban Scored

Referred to the streets and alleys committee for further study was a matter of a parking ban recently imposed on both sides of E. Center St. from Baker to Sargent Sts.

The matter was brought to the attention of council by Dr. A. E. Morrison and Harold Denzer of the Schaffner-Denzer Co., whose offices are located in that area.

Dr. Morrison said the parking ban was creating a hardship for his clients and the customers of several small business establishments in the vicinity. He expressed his opinion that parking ban was "a bit drastic and perhaps discriminatory" and wanted to learn what could be done about the situation.

Denzer also reported to council that he had received complaints about the parking ban. Several of the councilmen joined in to report they had received similar complaints and inquiries as to what could be done.

Fralich reported that on July 18, at the request of the city, the engineering firm of Browne, Roberts and Associates had been requested to make a recommendation to relieve anticipated traffic congestion with the opening of the new Albers store.

It was their recommendation, Fralich reported, to restrict parking on each side of the street between Baker and Sargent Sts. in the interest of traffic betterment and accident elimination.

A suggestion was made by First Ward Councilman Harold Smith that one solution might be to make a 30-minute parking zone on one side of the street. Dr. Morrison said that a one-hour zone would be more helpful, and Smith replied he had arbitrarily said 30 minutes.

When asked about the possibility of implementing this suggestion, Safety-Service Director John Davis replied that he thought if the city is paying $12,000 for the traffic survey, "we should use their recommendations."

Haldeman pointed out that if council were not in accord with a recommendation, it did not mean the recommendation was valueless.

Quaintance made a motion that the matter be turned over to the streets and alleys committee and have them meet with the engineering firm making the survey, and report back to council "as quickly as possible."

Sewer Project Granted

Unanimous authorization was granted to the General Telephone Co. of Ohio to improve Leader St. from Joseph St. north for approximately 600 feet by constructing a sanitary and storm water sewer. The construction is to be under the supervision and according to specifications of the city engineer.

Zoning Hearing Set

Two requests to change the zoning map of the city were ordered to be published for 30 days and a public hearing held regarding them at the Sept. 12 meeting of council.

The requests are to change present residential zones to commercial zones in the east section of Marion. One is located at the corner of E. Center St. and Madison Ave., where a proposed Knights of Columbus Hall is to be located if the commercial zoning is granted.

The second area in question is on the southeast corner of E. Center St. and Forest Lawn Blvd., where a drug store and soda fountain, with off-street parking facilities, is planned to be constructed.

Action Delayed

A proposed ordinance covering vacations for employees of the Service and Sanitation Departments was ordered to be re-drafted and presented for adoption at the next session of council.

When this ordinance is passed, all employees of the service, sanitation, police and fire departments will be on the same vacation allowance. It will provide two weeks vacation with full pay for employees with one to 14 years service inclusive, and three weeks paid vacations for employees with 15 or more years service.

The vacation allowance would become effective Jan. 1, 1956.

Petition Received

A petition signed by 45 residents of the Garfield Park area protesting the use of the park "as a gathering place for tent meetings" was presented to council by John H. Lehman, spokesman for the group.

After receiving an opinion from City Solicitor George A. Piacentino that they were without authority to take action on the petition, councilmen advised Lehman to consult the Park Board.

In presenting the petition, Lehman said it was his understanding that the park is there for recreation, and he did not believe tent meetings fall in that category.

Quaintance asked for a clarification of council's position in the matter. Piacentino said that the statutes designate that city-owned property set aside for park purposes is under the jurisdiction of the park board, which controls the parks. The recreation commission, he said, is for the purpose of improving recreation in the city.

Quaintance then wanted to know, that if action of the park board was not satisfactory to the petitioners, if they had any appeal. The solicitor replied that they had recourse to the courts, and they could come to him as city solicitor and request him to bring action to enjoin them from using the park. Piacentino said he could either accept or decline to bring this action. If he declined, then the group would have to take the matter to their own attorney.

Smith brought out the fact the park board is responsible to the mayor since he appoints its members. He added that council has no control over the members. Fourth Ward Councilman Ralph W. Williams said he had talked with Charles Morbitt, park board chairman, regarding telephone calls he had received about the situation. Williams said Morbitt told him that the board already had rules and the group would enforce those rules.

These rules include, Williams reported, that the park close at 10 p.m., no loudspeakers, and no trailers or tents to remain overnight.

Marion Lions Hear Address On Cuban Trip

Marion Clark, secretary and treasurer of the Marion Production Credit Association, related his personal experiences during a trip exporting dairy cattle to Cuba when he spoke at the Marion Lions Club weekly luncheon meeting Monday at Hotel Harding.

He entitled his talk "Riding the Rails and the Brown Swiss."

Born and reared on a farm in northern Indiana, Mr. Clark graduated from Purdue University with a degree in agriculture. He became associated with the Production Credit Association in 1934 and came to Marion in 1940, holding his present position here since that time.

The trip in which he and another man took 32 head of dairy cattle to central Cuba began at Kenton, traveling by rail to Tampa, Fla., the cattle were taken by truck to St. Petersburg, from there by plane to Havana, Cuba, and the remainder of the way, around 200 miles, by truck.

The cattle were sold at state fairs in Cuba. Total cost of the trip, Mr. Clark said, was approximately $5,000.

Guests at the meeting included Julian Gardiner, Dr. Sanford Goldman and W. M. Haley, all of Marion, and Vernon Davis of Green Camp.

Bloodmobile Goal Topped at Bucyrus

BUCYRUS — For the first time in five visits, Bucyrus area blood donors passed the 150-pint goal at a visit here Monday of the Columbus Red Cross bloodmobile unit. There were 173 donors and a total of 156 pints of blood was collected. Attorney Robert C. Neff obtained a large number of donors at a recruitment booth operated at the Crawford County Fair here last week by the Red Cross chapter.

There was no sponsoring organization for the bloodmobile visit and donors were enrolled through the efforts of a "minute-man" committee, composed of Red Cross workers and others interested in the blood donor program.

The bloodmobile will return here, Oct. 5.

Toll Roads Will Soon

CHICAGO — Indiana Gov. George N. Craig predicts toll road systems linking Chicago and New York at the end of next year. In a statement yesterday before the start of the annual Governors' Conference here he said Ohio's toll road is to be opened Oct. 1, his own state's east-west turnpike is slated for completion in November, 1956, and links with the Pennsylvania and New Jersey toll roads are expected late next year.

Train Kills Woman

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio — A New York Central freight train stuck and killed Mrs. Minna Shoupp, 84, walking over a downtown crossing yesterday.

Korean Sentenced To Die; Questioned Dean After Capture

SEOUL, U.S.A. — A South Korean army court-martial today condemned to death Lee Chang Kwang, one of the first Communists who interrogated Maj. Gen. William F. Dean after he was captured early in the Korean War. Lee was convicted of giving aid to the enemy by passing to the Communists information allegedly obtained from Dean.

President Rhee as well as higher military tribunals will have to approve the death sentence before it can be carried out, presumably by a firing squad.

The 25-year-old Korean was arrested early in July by South Korean counterintelligence agents. His trial began and ended today, lasting just 5½ hours.

Lee was an intelligence officer of the local Communist party committee near Taejon, where Dean was captured. The general wandered for 10 days seeking remnants of his shattered 24th Division before he was betrayed by two Korean farmers and caught.

He put the price at $1,544,719 for 343,271 shares.

Turnpike Chief Holds to Oct. 1 Opening Date

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—James W. Shocknessy, chairman of the Ohio Turnpike Commission, still holds to the date of Oct. 1 for opening of the entire Northern Ohio Turnpike between the Pennsylvania and Indiana borders.

Barring untoward incidents which are now entirely unforeseeable, Shocknessy said today, "traffic will begin to flow through all the turnstiles of the Ohio Turnpike at a minute after midnight of Sept. 30."

The chairman said further that no elaborate ceremonies are being planned for Oct. 1 because the commission's organization is too busy handling final stages of the highway construction.

He said it is the belief of the commission that the opening is "itself of such significance that nothing could be added to its impact by any program" which might be planned for the occasion. Shocknessy suggested that if any members of the turnpike advisory committee want to view the turnpike on the day of its opening they can consider Oct. 1 as a "virtual certainty in planning their personal schedules."

The committee is composed of a statewide group of business leaders organized to examine the proposed financing of the project when the commission was ready to sell bonds. The group has not met formally since June 3, 1952.

Shelter Can Save Lives

Survival of Atomic Blast
By No Means Impossible

It's ten years since the first atomic bombs killed hundreds of thousands of Japanese. Much has been learned since Hiroshima, and evacuation is not the only defense. This is the first of four articles on how to survive an H-bomb.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP) — Some simple lessons for surviving H-bombs are becoming clear.

They could mean the difference between life and death for you and your family.

But they often are overlooked in the paralyzing belief nothing can be done. Some people think one H-bomb will kill everyone within a great circle 40 to 60 miles across.

Some see no escape from radioactive fall-out.

And many expect, curiously, to be right under the center of an H-bomb, so why thing about defense or protection?

The man in the middle of a big city says it probably will go off over his head. So does a housewife two miles away. So does a family in a suburb 15 miles away.

Obviously, one or more of them will be wrong, if a bomb ever falls.

Whether they live might depend upon knowing the lessons learned in A-bomb tests in Nevada, and from experience with H-bomb fall-out last year in the Pacific.

LOOK, FIRST, at the homes in Survival City, Nevada, rocked last May by an A-bomb nearly twice as powerful as the A-bombs that shattered Hiroshima and Nagasaki in World War II.

A two-story brick house, standing 4,700-feet — less than a mile — from the center of the blast was destroyed.

It was obvious no one could have survived on either the upper floor or ground floor.

But — the basement was intact, almost free of rubble. Anyone in shelters in that basement probably would have come through unscathed, says Harold L. Goodwin, atomic test director for the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

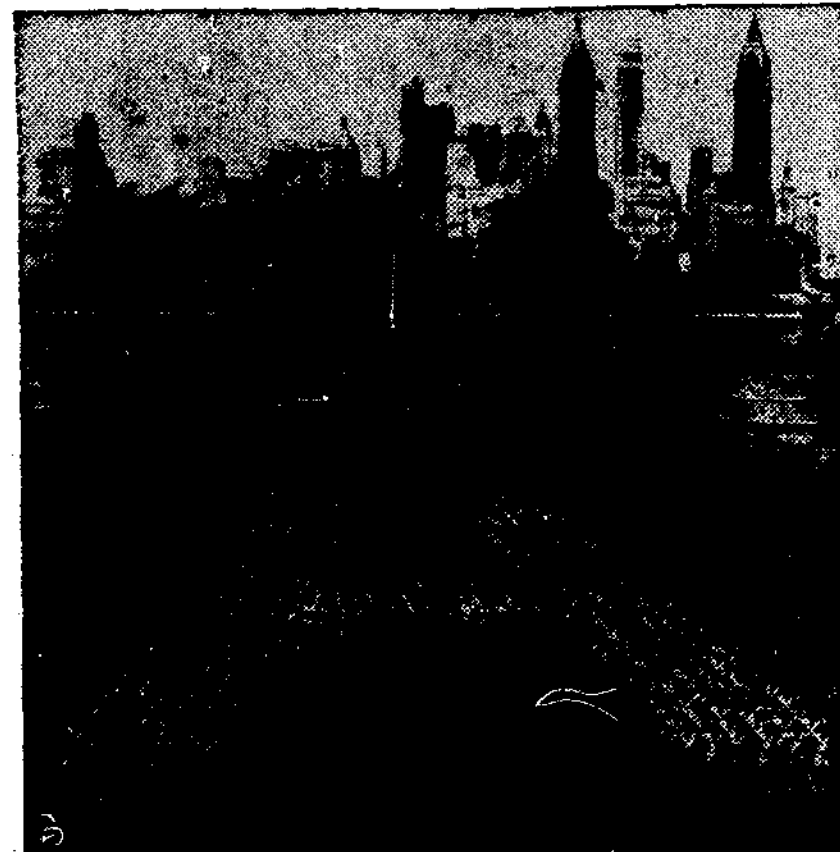

A little warning, a little shelter, and life instead of death.

But suppose it had been an H-bomb nearly a thousand times more potent?

Then scratch off that two-story house so close to the blast, probably including anyone in the basement shelter.

BUT — SIMILAR houses a few miles distant even from the H-bomb could give the same story of survival, with shelter. Shelters below big city buildings could give the same kind of protection.

A bomb 1,000 times more powerful does not reach out 1,000 times as far. Its radius of heaviest blast effect is only 10 times greater.

FIRST ARMY CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY. With the towers of Lower Manhattan forming a backdrop, 500 soldiers and WACs stationed at Fort Jay, Governor's Island, N. Y., form a giant "A." It symbolizes Organization Day which will be dedicated on Aug. 10, the First Army's 37th birthday. A highlight of the gathering will be the decoration of the Army's flag with eight battle streamers earned in two world wars.

The lesson: shelter and protection enormously increase your chance of survival, even within the ring of the heaviest blast effect.

You may be giving an enemy bombardier too much credit for pin-point accuracy in hitting your home, factory or office — of hitting, say, Times Square not a point five miles away, like La Guardia Airport. You share an equal risk with many others of being directly under the fireball and worst blast, and an equal chance of not being there.

That risk of being only near, and not directly under, a bomb makes knowledge of the survival lessons worth while.

About one fourth of all Americans who die from disease before they are 45 years old die of cancer.

Richwood

The Richwood Lions Club heard Sgt. Cochman of the Ground Observer Corps of Columbus, who was presented by Mayor Nelson Blue, speak at Thursday night's meeting held in the Mason's Temple dining room. The subject of the Ground Observers' tower being installed by the village at Memorial Field to be in charge of Army personnel was explained by Sgt. Cochman concerning the principles, instructions and system of the ground observation towers. A film was also shown in connection with the subject. The president, Richard Fetter, presided for a brief business session.

"Vacation" was the topic of the program at the Thursday meeting of the Thrifty Stitches Club at the home of Mrs. Hazle Pacha, who conducted the devotions. Mrs. Hosea Kyle presided. Seven members answered roll call. Contests, in charge of Mrs. Clyde Behrens, were won by Mrs. Kyle and Mrs. Roy Warren. Mrs. Behrens won the guessing box. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Gallion

The date of Saturday, Sept. 10, has been chosen by Miss Elizabeth Marline Columbus for her marriage to Clarence C. Moyer. Announcement of her engagement and approaching marriage was made here by her mother, Mrs. John Martinez.

Open church custom will be followed for the wedding which will be performed at 9 a.m. in St. Joseph's Catholic Church by Rev. Kenneth A. Hans.

Miss Columbus was graduated from Gallion High School in 1954 and is employed at the Perfection Steel Body Co. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Moyer of Crestline. A graduate of Crestline High School, he is associated with his father in the Moyer Auto Wrecking Co. at Crestline.

Wyandot Historical Society Erecting Highway Markers

UPPER SANDUSKY — A Wyandot County Historical Society project for the erection of highway markers leading to historical points of interest in the county has been initiated with the placing of a marker on State Routes 53 and 67 at the corner of Sandusky Ave. and Church St. pointing to the E. Church St. location of the Old Mission Church.

Markers leading to the Indian mill, northeast of here, have been placed at the junction corner where the Indian Mill Road joins Route 67.

The mission church, where John Stewart preached the Christian gospel to the Wyandot Indians, was the starting point of missionary work by the Methodist church in America and the first Protestant mission in the Northwest Territory. The mill, an historic landmark, was recently accepted by the state as a historic site park. The dam has been restored and arrangements are being completed to put the water driven milling machinery in working order. The grounds will be landscaped and the park is expected to open next year.

The highway signs, similar to those used by the state highway department, were provided by the Historical Society and erected by highway employees under the direction of Frank McElowney.

Miss Universe Gets Film Part: 6-Word Speech

HOLLYWOOD — Miss Universe, Sweden's Hillevi Rombin, has started her film career with a six-word speaking part in a film about clarinetist Benny Goodman. Her speech: "Just one more, please, Mr. Goodman."

She ran through the scene Monday after only one rehearsal—fewer than average for a beginner. Universal-International cast her in the role of an autograph-hunting American bobby-soxer in "The Benny Goodman Story." She speaks English and four other languages.

Sharing her scene with Steve Allen was Carlene King Johnson, Miss Vermont and later Miss U. S. A. in the beauty pageant won by Miss Rombin last month in nearby Long Beach.

MISS PENNSYLVANIA, Pam Ulrich, 23, of Sinking Spring, will represent Pennsylvania at the annual Miss America beauty and talent pageant to be held in Atlantic City, N. J., in September. She designs her clothes and her favorite sport is swimming.

Power for Good or Evil

Of all the international sharing scheduled for Geneva, Switzerland, this year, the conference on peaceful uses of atomic energy beginning this week will probably have the greatest effect.

This is the first result of President Eisenhower's speech before the United Nations General Assembly in 1953 urging an international agency to stockpile fissionable material for peaceful uses. The proposal was endorsed by the Assembly a year later and 64 nations are represented at Geneva in the world's first collective approach to a problem that dwarfs the more immediate problem of how to avert an atomic war.

That is a puzzle in how not to do something. The greater problem in atomic energy is how to get something done. The constructive uses of atomic energy are infinite. It is as though the world had come into possession of all the power of petroleum and coal multiplied a million times. How can these vast potentialities be realized and distributed to win the greatest good for the greatest number?

The significance of the President's speech in 1953 now is becoming clear. He sought to short-circuit the international tensions that surely would build up if the nations of the world began a cut-throat race for the ultimate source of power needed in industrial civilization.

An idealist could wish that two of the first beneficiaries of the vision might be Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Presidential Erosion

President Eisenhower's remark to an Ohio Republican delegation urging him to be a second-term candidate that "an erosion takes place in the presidency" is the key thought in the momentous decision he must make within the coming year.

He alone can make the decision because he alone can judge how much has been taken out of him by presidential erosion since 1952 and how much would be left to take if he won a second term.

His political friends will want to believe he has unlimited capacity for erosion because he is continuing to enjoy unprecedented popularity. But they are no more to be trusted in a matter of presidential health than were the Democrats, labor leaders and New Dealers who brought about Franklin Roosevelt's renomination for a fourth term in 1944 when "presidential" erosion had taken its full toll and Roosevelt was visibly in failing health.

There is no visible sign of erosion now in either the physique or mental attitude of the President, who will be 65 next Oct. 14. But the presidency is not an assignment that can be reconsidered from year to year. If Dwight Eisenhower decides when he makes his strictly personal appraisal of his remaining resources that he does not have enough to last until 1961, he can be depended on to step aside. He owes that decision to himself, to his government and to his countrymen.

We cannot agree with the political thesis that he will owe anything to his party in 1956; his debt will have been paid in full when he finishes the term he consented to be a candidate for in 1952. He has given it his leadership and prestige to the full extent of his ability, and not the least source of presidential erosion has been the nagging and bickering of some of the party's own stalwarts, with a view to making his presidency as difficult as possible.

Resource Called Freedom

Oklahoma's Sen. Kerr, who has no inclination to turn over the natural resource called petroleum to creeping socialism, is quoted as saying the Democrats will do to the Hell's Canyon private-power project on the Snake River what they did to the Dixon-Yates contract with the Atomic Energy Commission.

Since Kerr and his associates who are expecting to knife the taxpaying electric industry in the Hell's Canyon project are always talking about protecting the natural resources of America, they should be asked to stand and deliver a pat answer to this direct question:

Do you believe in freedom from government competition?

Freedom from government competition is a more important resource in America than oil in the ground, or water flowing down a river bed. It is the resource that has given Americans the incentive to develop all other resources.

In the case of the Hell's Canyon project, a private electric company is willing to develop the hydroelectric potential of the Snake River with three low-cost dams, while the government competition wants to build one enormous dam at far greater cost. It would be built with federal money. The government's overhead would be paid with federal money. Its losses would be met with federal money.

It may be good politics in Oklahoma for wealthy oil men to embrace socialism for water and reject it for oil. But it is not good politics in states where freedom from government competition is taken literally.

If the Democrats intend to whop up a campaign issue over the Eisenhower administration's efforts in behalf of freedom, they should bring Henry Wallace out of retirement. Voters in all states then would know what the issue is; i.e., socialism.

Notice to Red China

By David Lawrence

Eisenhower Makes U.S. Stand Unmistakably Clear

Lawrence

This is the plain meaning of a pointed comment by President Eisenhower at his press conference last week the words of which were reported though their significance was generally overlooked. Here is exactly what the President said:

"Now several times I have stated that as long as Red China is branded as an aggressor by the United Nations, which it still is, due to the fact that its armies are still in Korea, we have no choice of our own, and I don't know how the United Nations has a choice of its own."

"THERE ARE OTHER outstanding complaints which I have outlined time and again, and I have no idea that under existing circumstances, there would be a change of the kind you indicated in our policy."

The President originally used the phrase "branded as a dictator by the United Nations" but corrected himself later by saying he had intended to use the word "aggressor." His questioner had inquired specifically as to American policy toward Red China commenting that "generally the atmosphere seems to be one in which people now think there has been a change in the attitude of our government toward the possible recognition of the legitimacy of the Chinese government, that is the Chinese Communist government."

It is important to note that while Eisenhower referred to other "complaints" against the Red Chinese he made his principal point the presence of Red China's troops today in North Korea. His argument was that Red China not only been branded an aggressor by the United Nations but "still is due to the fact that its armies are in North Korea."

This, in the President's view, gives neither the United States nor the United Nations any other choice but to bar the way to the admission of Red China. It is a consistent position.

IT MEANS that admission is being denied not on the basis of the kind of government established ideologically by the Communists at Peiping but on the kind of government that exists as an external menace — a government that not only has refused to honor international obligations in the treatment of foreign nationals but also has refused even to acknowledge that it sent its armies into Korea.

The specious claim is still made by Peiping that only "volunteers" went to Korea and intervened — more than one million of them.

Since that claim was made, the Soviet Union, a member of the U.N., has publicly stated that it supplied arms and ammunition to the Red Chinese to help fight the war in Korea.

A little more than a year ago a Big Five conference was held at Geneva at which Red China's foreign minister, Chou En-lai, was present. He made a speech denouncing the U. N. and declaring emphatically that Red China would not accept U.N. auspices in holding elections in Korea.

HE CHARACTERIZED the Western nations as "aggressors" — a view incidentally which the supposedly neutral and disinterested Krishna Menon of India appears to share. Small wonder he is popular in Peiping.

Eisenhower has dramatically called attention to Red China's status as a continuous aggressor. Most people may have forgotten that originally a United Nations commission was sent to Korea and recommended that an independent government be set up and that the Russians as well as the United States withdraw their troops stationed there as a result of World War II. America did and so did the Russians in 1949 but the Communists then set up a puppet government in North Korea.

There may be some theoretical argument for the existence of a North Korean army as an internal factor but there is no valid basis whatsoever for the presence today of a Red China army in North Korea or its occupation of any Korean territory since October 1950. Yet such a realistic fact is overlooked by European governments which are urging the unification of Germany but seem willing to abandon the task of unifying Korea even though this mission was specifically entrusted to the United Nations.

THERE CAN BE no settlement of the Korean question without guarantees that the independence of an all-Korean government chosen in free elections will be respected by the Communists.

There can be no settlement of the Formosa issue until free elections can be held inside China so that all Chinese may choose their form of government uncoerced by a dictatorship and its armies.

To admit an aggressor government into the U. N. now would cause the leaders of both political parties in the United States to demand withdrawal of America from the U. N. They are on record to that effect.

The loss of this country to the U. N. is too big a price for European countries to pay to appease the Communists in the interest of trade or anything else. For if America splits with its allies on the Red China issue it could conceivably affect foreign and other U. S. relations with Europe.

The President's remarks at his press conference show why admission of Red China to the U. N. is unthinkable on the basis of anything that has happened thus far. But they also constructively point out the course Red China must follow if she wants to be taken into the family of civilized nations.

First the Word

By TRUMAN TWILL

When there is nothing of immediate importance to be done, I think about the ins and outs of communication.

Everybody has a working knowledge of the differences between written words and spoken words and their limitations and possibilities. But there is another kind—the words that are thought.

They also may be spoken or written, if they happen to be the right words. But essentially they are the words that are thought in advance of either speaking or writing, the framework on which spoken and written words are supported.

A word that is thought—all the words that must be thought before opinions, conclusions and observations can be made—must of necessity be deeply personal. These words are the most intimate of all the tools men use in trying to build their lives and records, in trying to help their friends and overcome their enemies.

Depending on the depth of personal culture and the sensitivity of personal nature, thought-words can be simple or complex, strong or delicate, coarse or refined, ugly or beautiful. They may be half-formed, like the words in a dream that cannot be remembered on awakening.

But they are the frames of reference in which all subsequent expression is created and on which all written and spoken words are supported when placed on display. Regardless of how artfully thought-words may be concealed, they are the clue to what lies behind all written and spoken words, whose purpose is to conceal about as often as to reveal.

The thought-word on which this particular collection of written words has been built is "meditation." This is a primary starting word for capsule essays like these. Today the meditation was about words.

Another starting word is "fantasy." Another is "remembrance."

Others are "nostalgia," "satire" and "spoofing"—the last named usually in combination with customs, manners and styles.

These words are only thought, not expressed. Accompanying them are many other words that may be touched on so lightly in the process of thinking they could not be recalled. Nevertheless, they are there—evidence of the usefulness of words as tools and reminders of what happens to communication when the tools get misplaced.

When you have nothing of immediate importance to be done, make a list of the words and groups of words that automatically start chains of thought in your mind—burning leaves, pups, the opening day of baseball season, taxes, drawing out an inside straight, lights going out all over the world, cherry pie, "I do"—there is no limit to such a list. And there is no limit to what can be built on them by adding one word at a time. That's why writing and speaking are the most fascinating, the most satisfying—and the hardest—things to do of all the tricks men learn to perform, thanks to their monopoly of language.

Expanding View of Creation

By Thomas R. Henry

WASHINGTON A map of approximately 4,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 time-space miles covering about three-fourths of creation that can be observed from the Earth —

Such is the atlas of the heavens being prepared by the National Geographic Society on the basis of a sky survey conducted in cooperation with California Institute of Technology and the Mount Palomar Observatory.

During the past three decades man's conception of the universe in which he lives has undergone changes so revolutionary that the impact has been lost on most minds. Thirty years ago astronomers generally conceived of a system of not much more than 100,000,000,000 stars of which the sun was of average size although some were a million times bigger and others a million times smaller.

All this was believed enclosed in an area which light, moving at close to 200,000 miles a second, could cross in about 100,000 years.

Today this idea is as antiquated as the Ptolemaic astronomy that preceded the Copernican school earth around which everything else revolved.

The findings behind this revolutionary change in ideas have been announced piecemeal from observatories all over the world. Up to now there has been no coordinated spatial picture. The National Geographic Society and Cal Tech have undertaken the job.

The survey up to now includes only that part of the heavens which can be observed from Mount Palomar. Much of the area visible only from the southern hemisphere will be included later.

The great turning point came in the 1920's when the late Dr. Edwin Hubble at the Carnegie Institution's Mount Wilson Observatory was able to distinguish stars whose periods of waxing and waning light can be used to estimate their distance.

From this came the astounding deduction that they were almost 100,000,000 light years from the earth and that the Andromeda nebula, which lay in the same northerly direction, was approximately the size of the whole Milky Way system. The size of known creation was doubled.

In the next few years, as other "island universes" were found, it was tripled, quadrupled, sextupled.

Then came the finding, chiefly associated with Professor Harlow Shapley of Harvard, that these "universes" were grouped together in "families"—that there were metagalaxies, or galaxies of galaxies.

The puny little Milky Way Galaxy, of which our solar system might be considered at best a billionth part, became a very small thing indeed in the developing picture of creation.

Among the notable achievements of the National Geographic Society-Cal Tech sky survey, is the finding of more than 1,000 of these galaxies of galaxies. The approximate mate position of all of them is recorded in the new atlas.

Very early in the galaxy hunt, long before the sky survey was started, came a startling and paradoxical development. The great star systems, it was found, were moving away from our Milky Way. The speed of their outward movement increased with their distance — approximately 300 miles per second per 1,000,000 light years.

This fact was inexplicable on any common sense hypothesis. Fortunately, some years earlier, the late Dr. Albert Einstein had advanced an hypothesis that made complete commonsense of nonsense.

Upon the basis of Einstein's work a Belgian priest, Father G. E. Lemaitre, was able to put forth a logical explanation for the phenomenon—that all the matter in all the galaxies was once a compact mass which exploded and that all the fragments of creation were parts of this mass still flying apart from the explosion.

Fateful Meeting in Geneva

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON If you lived on a star and had been watching man on earth through the ages you could not help but cross your fingers as you looked down upon the world's atomic scientists meeting this week in Geneva.

You might wish them well. But you'd have to wonder: "Will they make it this time?"

There were the empires that withered — the Egyptian, the Greek, the Roman, the French, the German, the British. With them were their wars, always fresh testimonies to man's inability to get along with man.

Now at last man, in the knowledge of the atom that he holds in his hand, has the power to destroy himself and every other living thing on the face of the earth if he cannot finally learn to live peacefully.

It is almost as if the whole history of man's combined wisdom and folly has been heading inevitably for the mid-20th century when, because he has learned too much, he is faced with the last choice between living and dying altogether.

Delegations from 72 countries — including leading atomic scientists from the United States, Russia, Britain, France, Canada — opened their atom-for-peace conference in Geneva this week.

The meeting had its origin in President Eisenhower's invitation — delivered before the United Nations on Dec. 8, 1953 — to the world's nations to pool their knowledge of the atom's peaceful uses for the good of mankind.

If the nations can go on from this point and exchange their knowledge of what the atom can do — in creating power, in medicine, in agriculture, in industry — man has a future undreamed of before the bomb fell on Hiroshima in 1945.

But will they go into a real exchange of ideas? And, if they do, will they be able to continue to do it? At the moment they meet, other scientists back home in the United States and Russia are devising ways for the atom in war.

The Geneva meeting is being held during a strange lull in the cold war — a period of almost cordial relations between the East and West — when the big powers are talking of keeping the atom for peace only and abolishing it for war.

It is not this meeting, important as it is and could be, that will decide whether man has found real wisdom at last or is a complete fool. The many meetings which decide that will be those which seek a way to outlaw atomic weapons and atomic war and leave the atom thereafter only for peace.

There never was a good war, or a bad peace.—Benjamin Franklin.

The streets below were bleak and the sun filtering through the network of rails and girders, left only slices of light, yet many found beauty in the pattern of sunshine and shadow. The stork managed to get through, Romeo and Juliet survived the drabness and peoples of all nationalities, growing up in the Melting Pot, managed to find music in the cacophony.

Newspaper Reports Jury To Get Home Loan Fraud Cases

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland News said today it had learned that more than 100 cases of FHA loan fraud in the financing of "home improvements" will be presented to the federal grand jury beginning next month by U. S. Atty. Sumner Canary.

The newspaper said indictments would be sought against builders, home improvement contractors, loan company agents acting in collusion and "loan sharks" who charge the mortgage 10 percent to obtain FHA - insurance loans through false representation.

Defendants if convicted could be sentenced to two years in prison or fined $5,000 or both. The News said District FHA Director Ernest G. Davis supplied the leads for investigation by the FBI of "hundreds of loan fraud cases" that will be presented to the grand jury in the order of completion of investigations.

The newspaper said fraud cases to be presented to the jury for the fall session include false credit applications made in order to obtain FHA-insured loans from lending institutions; FHA loans fraudulently obtained to begin financing of new homes by representing them to be for home improvements; falsely swearing to "completion certificates" on FHA improvements loans to secure cash before the purported improvements were started or contemplated; and collusion between certain leading institutions and building contractors to speed the loans into cash.

The fraud victims are unsuspecting would-be home owners who are unfamiliar with business transactions, the News said.

Miss O'Hare and Mr. Bice Exchange Marriage Vows

Greenwood Evangelical United Brethren Church was the scene of the wedding Sunday, July 31, of Miss Joan M. O'Hare and Darrell R. Bice. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred O'Hare of 636 N. Main St. and his parents are Dr. Raymond A. Bice of East Cleveland, O., and Mrs. Lawrence Ketchum of Avon Lake, O.

The couple repeated their vows at 2 o'clock in the afternoon before the church altar decorated with palms, a basket of gladioli and lighted candles held in candelabra. White satin bows marked the family pews. The pastor, Rev. Lynn Harris, officiated.

Preceding the ceremony, a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Charles Adams of Sheffield Lake, O., organist, and William Medley of Cleveland, vocalist.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory skinner satin. The square-shaped neckline, inset with net, was outlined with an embroidery design of seed pearls and the long sleeves ended in points over the hands. A bustle effect was created at the hip line and the skirt extended into a long train. Her veil of silk illusion was caught to a Dutch styled cap of lace and silk illusion. She wore a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a white Bible topped with white roses and showered with ribbon streamers tied in lover's knots.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Glen Foos, and bridesmaids were Miss Beverly White of Adrian, Mich., a former college roommate of the bride, and Miss Lynne Harris of Marion.

Their gowns, in ballerina length, were fashioned alike of dotted lawn, the matron of honor in white with navy dots and the bridesmaids in white with red. The necklines and sleeves were scalloped and the empire waists were accented with ribbon bows to match their gowns. They tied in the back and streamers extended to the hems of the skirts. The matron of honor wore a hat similar to that of the bride and carried a cascade bouquet of navy colored carnations. The bridesmaids wore large white picture hats trimmed in lace and accented with large white satin bows in the back. They carried cascade arrangements of red carnations.

The flower girl, Miss Joyce Moore of Avon, O., wore a white nylon dress styled with ruffles on the bodice and skirt. A' the waist was a white satin ribbon which tied in a bow in the back. She carried a basket of red and white carnations and wore a crown of like flowers in her hair.

BEST MAN for the bridegroom was L. Roy Partridge of Cleveland and seating the guests were Charles Adams of Sheffield, O., and Glen Foos, brother-in-law of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. O'Hare chose a dress of navy blue crepe trimmed with white lace at the neckline. She combined with it white accessories and had a corsage of red and white carnations. Mrs. Ketchum wore a light blue nylon dress with a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the dining room at the YMCA. The bride's table held a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and encircled with red and white carnations.
